

FM, or Factory Mutual/FM Global is a leading commercial insurance company that partners with companies long term to support risk management and loss prevention practices.

FM Global establishes industry standards through state of the art research and testing. You should look for the FM Approved logo to ensure that your equipment purchases have met standards for loss prevention and risk management.

When you see the logo, that is backed by scientific research and testing, on a U.S. Chemical Storage building, you can be sure that the building has met or exceeded design standards for loss prevention and risk management.
